

NUI Galway
OĒ Gaillimh

Economics of Cancer Research Inaugural Symposium

Monday 2nd September 2013
Aula Maxima, NUI Galway, Ireland

J.E. Cairnes School of Business and Economics, NUIG (Brendan Walsh, HRB/NCI Fellow in Health Economics and Cancer, & Professor Ciaran O'Neill) in partnership with the Health Research Board are pleased to announce this symposium as part of a Knowledge Exchange & Dissemination Scheme grant.

Keynote Speakers Include:

Professor Richard Sullivan MD PhD,

Director King's Health Partner Institute of Cancer Policy & Global Health, King's College London

Dr. Robin Yabroff MBA PhD,

Health Services and Economics Branch of the Applied Research Program, National Cancer Institute, Maryland, USA

Professor Bengt Jonsson PhD,

Professor of Economics, Stockholm School of Economics, Sweden

Dr. Anirban Basu PhD,

Associate Professor Department of Health Services, School of Public Health, and PORPP, Department of Economics, University of Washington, USA

Professor John Fitzpatrick FRCSI FRSC,

Head of Research, Irish Cancer Society

The symposium will include presentations from national and international experts who will discuss:

- Importance of Economics in Cancer Research
- Costs of Cancer Care
- Economics of Oncology
- Future of Cancer Research

Register:

<http://www.conference.ie/Conferences/index.asp?Conference=243>

▪ Contact: B.WALSH4@NUIGALWAY.IE